

The Automotive Aftermarket Industry
An Open Door to Career Opportunities

CALL FOR VOLUNTEERS

*To ensure the growth of our automotive aftermarket industry, we must attract bright young talent! Get involved!
AIA needs AIA Speakers Bureau Volunteers.*

AIA Speakers Bureau Volunteers give presentations to young people interested in pursuing careers in our industry and participate in Career Fairs at local high schools and colleges. Many students still do not think automotive, when they are considering careers.

As an aftermarket professional you know that the industry has a variety of career opportunities. By becoming a Speakers Bureau Volunteer, you can share your hands-on industry experience and insight with our future work force.

Becoming a volunteer speaker is easy!

Speakers are provided with a kit, which contains a career reference guide, industry guide, scholarship information and giveaways for distribution.

The reference guide provides career information, including job descriptions from someone actually performing the job, salary ranges and education required. It details technical, sales, administrative, and management positions.

AIA sends Opportunities Unlimited information to high schools and colleges across Canada to promote the Speakers' Bureau program. All schools requesting a speaker are matched with someone from our Speakers Bureau within their area.

Become an AIA Speakers Bureau Volunteer. Help AIA help young people make an informed career choice. Our future depends on it!
